

Former Head Of RCI Dies At Age Of 72

Roy Hayes Served 20
Years As President
Of Houlton School

Roy M. Hayes, 72, distinguished educator and for 20 years associated with Ricker Classical Institute and Junior College, died suddenly Thursday morning at his home in Deerfield, Mass. Funeral services were conducted Saturday at Deerfield and interment was in Lee, Mass.

A native of North Berwick where he was born in October, 1891, he attended public schools of that town and was graduated from Colby College in the class of 1918. His first teaching position was at Oak Grove Seminary in Vassalboro in 1919, moving from there to Unity where he was located until 1924. Following a season at the University of Maine Summer School, he became principal of Washburn High School from 1924 to 1926.

Came To Ricker In 1926
It was in the Fall of that year that he came to Ricker as president of the Institute and remained for 20 years during which time he founded Ricker Junior College and became its first president. During his two decades of residence in Houlton he found time also to take active part in the affairs of the community.

A veteran of World War One, he was interested in all American Legion activities, serving more than once as Commander of the Chester L. Briggs Post. He was also a county commander of the Legion, was mentioned several times as a candidate for state commander and served for a time as National Americanism officer of the Legion.

During World War Two he served for several years as chairman of the draft board in this area. He was president of the Houlton Rotary Club in 1933-1934. On many occasions he willingly responded to calls from churches in Houlton and elsewhere.

Flying Club Protests Bill For Back Rent

Butler Tells Council
Of Club Expenditures
In Promoting Airport

The Houlton Flying Club has protested a bill from the town for $150 for back rent at the Houlton International Airport.

Kenneth Butler represented the Club at the regular Council meeting Monday night and offered several reasons why the Club felt it should not be subjected to payment of rent. He said that the Town stopped charging the Club rent early in 1961, and that members had not been informed that they were being charged again until the bill arrived.

Mr. Butler said the bill covered the 10-month period from January 1 to November 1 this year, at a rate of $15 a month. In a letter to the club, Town Manager Walter Benson said that no attempt would be made to charge the Club back rent to the time it stopped paying in 1961.

Mr. Butler said the Flying Club had spent considerable money in recent years in its successful attempt to have the International Airport made a port of entry. Members were sent at Club expense to several meetings in Montreal, he said, in support of the port of entry bid.

He said the Club has also spent over $500 to erect an airport sign, and has also done other work at the hanger it occupies.

The Council listened to the remarks and said it would make a decision at a later meeting.

Canadian-American Congress At Ricker Proves A Success; Many Problems Cited

Two overlapping but different viewpoints on Canadian-American relations were advanced Friday evening at Ricker College at the opening general assembly of a two-day Canadian-American Congress.

The judgement was unanimous, however that though there have been difficult times in recent years in U. S.-Canadian affairs and are points of conflict no crisis lies ahead in the foreseeable future.

Munkie A Speaker
The Congress assembly's major speakers were Maine's Senator Edmund S. Muskie and Canadian Member of Parliament Hugh John Flemming. A responsive audience estimated at close to 500 people heard the addresses and witnessed a press conference conducted by newsmen and professors and students from Ricker and the University of New Brunswick.

Having discussed several recurrent economic, political and social conflicts and barriers, Senator Muskie said that four questions which Americans should ask themselves are these:

1. How can Canada achieve a reasonable rate of growth and capital formation without being dominated by the United States?
2. What reasonable steps can be taken to prevent exploitation of our coastal fisheries without imposing impossible barriers on either country?
3. What opportunity is there for us to further reduce trade barriers between the two countries without undue disruption within either country?
4. How can the values of Canadian culture be promoted to the mutual advantage of both nations?

Should Set Together
The Maine Senator remarked that he has long felt that the representatives to the Canadian Parliament from the Atlantic provinces and the senators in the U. S. Congress from the United States should "get together to discuss problems of joint concern and mutual benefit."

"I am writing to the members of Parliament and the members of Congress from these areas to solicit their interest and support of such a venture," he said.

Both speakers quoted Robert Frost. Senator Muskie recalled the lines: "Before I built a wall I'd ask to know — What I was walling in or walling out — And to whom I was like to give offense."

M. P. Flemming referred to Diefenbaker's use of Frost's "Something there is which does not love a wall. It is friendship."

Flemming quoted addresses given by Diefenbaker and President Kennedy on the occasion of Kennedy's appearance before the Joint Houses of Parliament of Canada May 17, 1961.

He referred to Diefenbaker's words: "We have fences between us but they are not hostile barriers — but rather by way of co-operation, evidences of distinctiveness that each of our countries cherishes and of the independence and sovereignty that each must respect in the other."

Quotes Kennedy
He quoted Kennedy's remark, "Geography has made us neighbors. History has made us friends. Economics has made us partners. And necessity has made us allies. Those whom nature hath so joined together, let no man put asunder."

Speaking of situations of mutual interest and concern, Mr. Flemming listed the Passamaquoddy Investigation, improvement of the St. John and the St. Croix Rivers, and "the attention of our respective federal governments to the international area of the St. John River."

The importance of improving the St. John River as an Atlantic Coast salmon river cannot be over-emphasized," Mr. Flemming said, continuing, "A co-operative effort to lessen the pollution of this river, to preserve it for a variety of recreational uses, and to conserve (Please Turn To Page Three)

Jaycees Ask Toys For Tots Contributions

Group Will Distribute
Toys To Needy Tots
In Time For Christmas

The Junior Chamber of Commerce is again making an appeal to townspeople to aid in its annual Toys for Tots campaign. The Jaycees are working in conjunction with the Salvation Army in making toys available to boys and girls who might not otherwise receive such gifts at Christmas time.

Larry Reece, president of the Houlton Jaycees, said that members have been collecting toys and that toys may be left at the Salvation Army building on Court street. The Jaycee wives are assisting in the program by cleaning and making repairs to some of the toys.

Boxes for toys have been placed in schools, with boys and girls asked to contribute toys they will no longer be using but which might be enjoyed by some other child.

Last Christmas the Jaycees distributed boxes of toys to 75 families. At the same time the Salvation Army contributed food boxes to these same families.

HRDC Will Move Office To Northland

Will Occupy Suite
As Soon As Hotel
Completes Renovations

The office of the Houlton Regional Development Corporation will be moved from the White Memorial Building to the Northland Hotel, according to an announcement made by Aubrey McLaughlin, industrial director.

Mr. McLaughlin said the HRDC will occupy the suite of offices recently vacated by the Connecticut General Life Insurance Company. These offices are being renovated and are expected to be ready for occupancy in about two weeks, he said.

The HRDC has been sharing three rooms as office space in the White Memorial Building with the Chamber of Commerce. This, according to Mr. McLaughlin, has proven unsatisfactory to both organizations, allowing neither the proper working space.

The move by HRDC to the Northland will permit better working conditions and better efficiency, Mr. McLaughlin said.

ANNUAL APPEAL — The traditional Christmas Kettle Appeal of the Salvation Army is currently being conducted in Houlton. The Salvation Army has erected a small shelter for its Kettle volunteers on Main street. Volunteers will be accepting contributions throughout the Christmas season. Captain Harry J. Michaels and his little daughter Kathleen show how easy it is to give during the Kettle Appeal. In the booth is Miss Lois Day, one of the several volunteers who are assisting with the program. Deer Kill

13 different tagging stations in the area has been completed. The survey will give readers a chance to compare kills recorded by different stations over the five-year period, based on reports of the tagging stations.

The 13 stations had a kill this year of 671 deer during the season which was 550 less than in 1959, when a total of 1,221 deer were tagged at these same 13 tagging stations.

The deer kill in the State of Maine this season according to recent articles was the worst since 1945.

The Pioneer Times will carry the deer survey next year and would like to express thanks to the different tagging stations in the area, for their cooperation during the season.

A large delegation from the State is in the Nation's Capital for the hearings. It had been claimed prior to the hearings that Maine had a very good chance of obtaining a sugar beet allotment.

A decision from the USDA pertaining to the allotments is not expected for several months. The allotments to be granted are for the 1966 season.

Ricker Needs Rally To Tip
ASTC, 95-78

The Ricker Bulldogs outscored Aroostook State Teachers College, 95-78, in a highly contested game for their seventh consecutive victory Tuesday evening.

The Bulldogs jumped off to a 4-0 edge only to have the Teachers come back and take the lead. The advantage changed hands half a dozen times before ASTC opened up a spread of as much as seven points. The Bulldogs cut the lead to three points 46-43, at the half-time buzzer.

Ricker's Phil Coon and Mike Burns provided the offensive punch, with 24 and 18 points respectively, during the second half as the lead bounced back and forth. With the score in Ricker's favor, 54-53, George Archer stole the ball and went the length of the court to score. The Bulldogs were never headed again even though they could not open up an advantage of over ten points until the final minutes of the game.

Canadian-US

(Continued From Page One) its rich salmon fisheries for our mutual benefit must be a matter of deep concern and unceasing effort for both our countries.

Have Led The Way "In the co-operation which has existed, is presently operative, and will continue in the future, I think we may consider that the State of Maine and the Province of New Brunswick have led in the right kind of Canadian-American relations," he said.

"Between us, the usual formula used for negotiations between nations is not enough," he remarked, concluding, "Our is a family situation and should be approached on that basis."

Saturday Breakfast The Congress Saturday morning heard Political Science professor Allen R. Kear of the University of New Brunswick at a breakfast at the John G. Potter

Two morning sessions and an afternoon conference considered aspects of Canadian-American relations — economics, social and political.

Four Ricker professors — history instructor Charlotte Melvin, English instructor Stuart Jones, history professor T. Barton Akeley, and political science professor Dr. C. Geza Kuun — and UNB's Kear participated in the Saturday sessions.

Ricker Student Government President Robert Bonnell and UNB Student Representative Council Sandy Leblanc assisted the lecturers and professors from the two schools in leading the discussions, which were staged in Wording Hall on the Ricker campus.

A brief consideration of the advisability of Canada's joining the Organization of American States (OAS) centered around the contention of Canadian student representatives to the Congress that the United States would expect Canada to "go along" with its decisions, which would place a new strain on U. S.-Canadian relations and which might antagonize Latin America.

The point was made that presently, divorced from O.A.S., Canada is in a position to serve as a mediator between the U.S. and Latin America.

Canadian representatives remarked that probably Canada would have to sever her ties with the British Commonwealth completely if she were to join the O.A.S.

Considered in a morning session which concerned itself with international and national economic problems and conflicts was the argument that Canada should develop more industries to escape control of its economy by the U.S.

to reduce the large "risk" investment the United States has in Canada's business and industry. Noting that industrial specialization in Canada will eventually lead to free trade, one of the Canadian student spokesmen remarked that American subsidiary companies operating in Canada should be controlled by Canada.

Cautious On Investing Canada's being cautious about investing in U.S. industry was explained by a UNB representative as being an outgrowth of the fact that a lack of domestic markets forces Canada to depend almost entirely on international markets which are constantly changing.

In an exchange of charges both the American press and the Canadian press were accused of having created false and misleading impressions of the internal affairs and international policies of the neighboring country.

Mr. Akeley remarked that in these times cultures are being engineered politically, and that nationalism is used to engineer differences between cultures.

UNB's Kear said Americans work on the "melting-pot" theory, by which an immigrant becomes Americanized "as quickly as possible, giving up his own national identity." Canada is not, and cannot be, a melting pot, he asserted.

Ricker lecturer Akeley responded, "We never melted anyone."

In the final afternoon session the Congress proposed that next year's conferences be held at the University of New Brunswick, a decision which is subject to the approval of the UNB Student Council.

Another Congress Planned Students David Tilson of UNB and Richard Pinder of Ricker were named Congress officials responsible for planning and arranging the second annual Canadian-American Congress.

Both Senator Muskie and Mr. Flemming became honorary members of Sigma Delta Phi fraternity. Plaques symbolic of honorary brotherhood were presented them by fraternity president Tom Faltoute.

Holden Post Tips Briggs Team, 4-2

The Frank B. Holden Post of American Legion scored a 4-2 victory over the Chester L. Briggs Post in a bowling match Sunday afternoon at the Dux Club lanes in Houlton.

It was the third five-string match the two teams have bowled, and they are now but a single point apart. The previous week the Briggs Post had won in a match rolled at the Birch Point alleys in Island Falls.

Sunday the Holden Post picked up points in the second, third and fourth strings, and its fourth point for total pins. They bested the Briggs Post in total pins by 2414 to 2405.

Mars Hill, trailing by nine points at the end of the third period, went into a strong all-court press against the Bears and held them to only 12 points, while racking up 23 points. Sharp shooter Brian Blanchard hit the nets for 30 points to lead both sides in scoring.

Mars Hill will travel to Presque Isle Friday and next Tuesday night will trek to Houlton for a battle with the Shiretowners.

Highlights In Sports

by Larry Reece

A few weeks ago we mentioned the possibility of having TV bowling in Aroostook County, at Presque Isle Monday we were informed that the owners of the different bowling lanes in the area around the County and New Brunswick are really behind this type of a program.

In talking to Dewey DeWitt, sportscaster for WAGM-TV, he told us that at present the Presque Isle station is not equipped with the proper lens for the television cameras. In time the station will have these lenses and the bowling program will be one of its regular features.

The estimated cost for this type of equipment is around $25,000. The Presque Isle lanes operated by Larry DuMont has been picked as the most likely spot in the County for this program. In talking recently to him he told us that he was working hard on this program, which, he stated, "Would do more for bowling in the area than any other single program or advertising campaign." Also it will give the bowling fans in Maine and New Brunswick a chance to see some of the best bowlers in action weekly.

Most of the bowlers in the area are trying to promote this program as they it will give everyone a chance to bowl and will help to build a bigger interest in the sport.

Presently the outlook is good for TV bowling in Aroostook, but it will take at least one more season before it becomes a reality.

Top Hoopster

In a recent issue of a weekly newspaper in Raleigh, N. C., one of Houlton's former basketball players has been selected to play on a starting five. The former Houlton High School hoopster, Clem Josselyn, will play forward for the Wesleyan College of North Carolina.

Josselyn, a freshman at Wesleyan, is 6'2" and played last season on the Houlton High school varsity basketball team. He was one of the key players for Shires as he was good on shooting and did well in the rebounding department.

Bulldogs

The Ricker College Bulldogs under the expert coaching of "Gibby" Chapman have a record at this writing of six straight wins and are rapidly becoming the most talked about around the state and in nearby New Brunswick.

All of the basketball fans we have talked to mention how good Ricker College is this season. The Ricker team compiled a record last season of 18 wins and six losses and have been tough so far in their hoop battles. The basketball season is still in its early stages, but with the fast pace that the Bulldogs are setting who can keep up with them.

The only real test that the Ricker team has had this season came in the championship game with Gorham in the Potato Classic, a game which saw the score tied 18 times before Ricker's Mike Burns sank the winning basket for the Bulldogs.

Tonight the Ricker Bulldogs get another stiff test of their basketball power when they host the Loring Bombers in an exhibition game which is slated for 8 p. m. at the Putnam gym. Loring outscored Ricker earlier this season in a practice game by 20 points.

Off The Rim

Coach Ron Marks of Sherman High School is setting a fast pace with his Hornets. They have won 17 straight basketball games since last December in regular league play. . . . Saturday night at the Putnam gym was their 17th when they downed Ricker Classical Institute, 63-60. . . . One of the best games played last Friday night was carded at Easton when the Mars Hill Panthers under coach Terry Spruling racked up their second straight win of the season by nipping the Easton Bears, 80-78. Another top notch basketball battle was fought down at Patten Academy Friday night when Mattawamkeag defeated Patten 54-51 in a KVL contest. . . . The "Keag" team under coach Clarence Thompson has scored two key wins so far in the KVL. . . . The bowling sweepstakes held Sunday at Clair, N. B., was termed a big success. . . . A total of 37 bowlers from Maine and New Brunswick took part in the pin action. . . . Roland Desjardin of Madawaska won top honors with Houlton's Ken Paradis taking second place.

Ricker Romps To Six Straight By Beating WSTC And Middies

The Ricker College Bulldogs went on to victories number 5 and 6 against no losses with wins over Washington State Teachers College, 101-86, and Maine Maritime Academy, 123-48, last week.

Last Wednesday evening at Machais, the Bulldogs jumped off to a 55-36 lead and coasted home to victory over Washington State.

The Bulldogs were never headed as they shot a fantastic 56 percent from the floor compared to a high 51 percent for the Teachers.

Mike Burns led all scorers with 30 points. Also in double figures for Ricker were 6'6" freshman Bob Hartshorne with 17 points, Guards Bill Goodnough and Butch Cannan collected 10 and 15 respectively to their credit while forward Phil Coon sank 13.

For the Teachers, Ted Willis netted 23 points and Ordie Alley followed with 21.

With the Ricker mascot "Victory Rick", present, the Bulldogs sank the Middies from Castine, 123-48, Saturday night at Putnam gym.

Maine Maritime tied the score at 4 all before George Archer dropped in a foul toss, his first of 10 points, and gave a one-point edge to Ricker. The Middies came back with a pair of foul shots to enjoy their only advantage, 6-5.

Butch Cannan, 12 points for the evening, hit on a short jumper seconds before Phil Coon layed one in and followed it up with a foul attempt for a 3 point play. The Bulldogs were then off and running.

With the score in Ricker's favor 20-9, Coach Chapman inserted into the game his bench in an effort to keep the scoring down. But even with an all-freshman team playing most of the period, Ricker totaled 76 points with Phil Coon collecting high game honors with 25 points, 18 during the second half. Six other Bulldogs hit in the double figures in the high scoring affair.

With 12 points apiece were Butch Cannan and Mike St. Thomas with Dave Vaznis following with 11 to his credit. Mike Burns, Jim Brown, and George Archer

Most whiskeys were priced according to these inflationary costs...and most still are. But the shortage has been over for years! Today, we make an excellent whiskey...and sell it for close to four dollars a fifth. We pass these whiskey savings on to you, although many other fine bourbons are still charging "shortage prices." You get an excellent whiskey. And you buy it for less.

Carbon Monoxide Claims More Than 300 Lives A Year

Is your life being endangered by carbon monoxide from your car's exhaust system? The State Police present these facts on deaths from carbon monoxide, the so-called creeping killer, as cited by the National Safety Council:

1. Each year more than 300 people are victims of the poisonous gas. This includes motorists who warm up their cars with garage doors closed, auto mechanics who repair cars in closed garages, and people who sit in parked cars and leave the motor on to keep heater or air-conditioner operating.

2. Somewhat less than 50 persons a year, as revealed by medical examiners' reports or autopsies, are victims of carbon monoxide while their car or truck is traveling the highway.

Though statistics may show relatively few lives lost in moving motor vehicles from this cause, most safety men say the total number of deaths isn't clearly known. One such official says: "We suspect that many one-car accidents, rear-end collisions, and accidents in which the driver falls asleep, are caused by carbon monoxide."

Carbon monoxide, the silent killer, causes more deaths than any other poison, according to the Council. It is colorless, tasteless, non-irritating and almost odorless. It can kill within minutes, depending upon the concentration breathed into the lungs. Running the motor of a car for five minutes in a closed garage may mean death.

The Council lists these symptoms of carbon monoxide poisoning: tightness across the forehead, followed or accompanied by throbbing in the temples, headache, weariness, weakness, dizziness, nausea, loss of muscular control and increased pulse and respiration. If you're driving at night and the darkness seems blacker than usual, the glare of oncoming lights brighter than usual, carbon monoxide may well be the cause.

"Fresh air," the Council says, "is the one sure way to prevent carbon monoxide poisoning." Checking muffler or exhaust pipe will enable you to detect danger before it's too late. Other suggestions from the National Safety Council: "1. Before starting car engine, open garage doors wide. 2. Never drive with all windows closed. 3. If you're sleepy on the road, stop at once, get out and breathe fresh air. Then drive with windows open. Finally, don't follow other cars too closely. Their exhaust contains carbon monoxide fumes which may enter your car."

Go to pot with a bar of yellow soap when you're camping — and coat the bottoms of the pots you use. Soap won't burn off in the fire's heat but the soot will wash off in a jiffy. Another way: Cover pot bottoms with aluminum foil which transfers heat but not impossible-to-remove, get all over — everything, dadblast the stuff soot.

Music Hath Charms, Much Else Besides

WASHINGTON — As William Congreve wrote in 1697, "Music hath charms to soothe the savage breast, to soften rocks, or bend a knotted oak." He wasn't far wrong.

Today the noble art is being used in some unlikely places — in the barnyard and the dentist's office, the factory and the operating room, the National Geographic Society says.

In McKeesport, Pa., dairymen piped music into a barn to lull somnolent cows into yielding more milk. The experiment rated mention in the British House of Lords, whose members learned that cows prefer the Blue Danube Waltz to noisy jass.

Patients who arrive at their dentist's office with frazzled nerves and sagging courage calmly submit to the whirling drill after exposure to the languid strains of a Chopin nocturne.

Hens Lay More

Some poultrymen report their hens lay more eggs under the influence of music.

And in a Phoenix, Arizona, hospital, obstetricians have been experimenting with music as a substitute for anesthetics on the theory that music "brings sweet sleep down from the blissful skies," as Tennyson wrote in "The Lotus-Eaters".

Music therapy is also used in hospitals in the treatment of mental patients.

In southern India, a botanist has claimed that music makes plants grow faster and yield bigger crops. The notion, received by other scientists with frank skepticism, is not new in India. The puranic scripture Bhagavata describes the deity Krishna as having made flowers bloom when he played his flute in the gardens of Brindaban.

Powerful Sounds

Music's next-door neighbor in the sonic spectrum — the higher range of frequencies called "ultrasonic" — has produced some of the most dramatic examples of the hidden power of sound waves.

Ultrasonic waves, just beyond man's hearing range, have been used to wash clothes, repair teeth, measure the fat on a living hog's back, test the tenderness of beef-on-the-hoof, guide torpedoes, measure ocean depths, find fish, and even to ease a presidential back-ache.

This latter application occurred in 1961. When President John F. Kennedy suffered a strained back, doctors used ultrasonic radiation to relax the muscles and reduce pain.

In February, 1963, botanists at Utah State University said they had used sound waves to create living viruses from plant substances.

And those softened rocks and bent oaks Congreve spoke about? Ultrasonic "knives" can cut through sapphire, one of the hardest of minerals; and ultrasonic energy, the Oregon Forest Research Center reported, can change the form of wood products.

Moderate Growth Is Expected For State In Next Few Years

Personal income, employment, industrial activity, and population will show a moderate rate of growth in Maine during the next few years.

That's the conclusion of a study by the New England Telephone Company.

Highlights of the study, conducted by the Chief Statistician's Office, are:

1. Industrial development is the vital element in the Pine Tree State's progress.
2. The leather industry is Maine's fastest growing industry.
3. Agriculture has been declining in importance in Maine during the past few years.
4. The vacation section is a "real bright spot" in the economy, and its outlook continues to look bright.
5. Total personal income has been growing steadily.
6. The number of insured unemployment this year is running considerably below last year's level.

Many Assets

The Telephone Company economists said assets that should help the State's economy grow at a satisfactory rate are: productive labor force, vast forests and mineral resources, abundant water supply, and a tax structure favorable to business.

Industrial activity in the state has been increasing at a more moderate rate than the United States since 1960 — 24 per cent compared to 61 per cent. Factory output has risen 40 per cent to more than $1.6 billion since 1962.

The leather industry, which is Maine's fastest growing major industry in terms of employment, showed a 76 per cent rise in value of output since 1953.

During 1947-1962, the leather industry replaced the textile industry as the number one employer of factory workers. It was the only major manufacturing industry to show a gain in employment.

Shoe production has increased nearly 50 per cent between 1950 and 1962. More than 53 million pairs of shoes were made in Maine in 1962.

The value of shipments of shoes for the first half of this year was up four per cent over the same period in 1962 in Maine.

Maine's shoe industry now ranks as the fourth largest in the country.

The Telephone Company economists said the cost-price squeeze in the potato industry, foreign competition in the fish industry, automation, and the trend towards larger farms has led to the decline in agriculture's relative importance.

Partly offsetting the decline in sales of crops has been the strong showing of the livestock sector, especially broiler production.

Cash receipts for livestock since 1949 have increased 64 per cent. Cash receipts from the sale of broilers during this period leaped 114 per cent.

Severe Slow

However, the recent increase in tariffs on imports of broilers into the European Common Market was a severe blow to this industry.

The nonmanufacturing sector of Maine's economy has shown the most rapid growth.

The Telephone Company economists report that income from Maine's vacation-travel business has more than doubled since 1947 to $275 million in 1962.

They expect it to increase another $10 million this year.

"The vacation industry in Maine is getting to be more than just a summer business," they said. "The expansion of Maine's ski facilities, such as the one underway at the Saddle Back Mountain Ski Area, is helping to make it an all year around business."

"During this past winter the vacation lodging business reached record levels."

The Federal Reserve Bank of Boston reported that occupancy rates for the December-to-March period were 14 per cent above the prior year. This was the largest percentage gain in the winter vacation business shown by any of the New England states.

"This boom in the vacation section has been one of the reasons for the strong showing of the non-manufacturing industries."

Personal Income Grows

Total personal income, according to the study, has been growing steadily since 1947. Measured in 1961 dollars, it increased 95 per cent during a recent 14-year span compared to 132 per cent for the United States.

To measure an individual's purchasing power, per capita income is used. Per capita income has increased 67 per cent since 1947 in Maine. Last year it was $1,917 in Maine, compared to $2,366 for the United States.

Wages and salaries, which comprise 65 per cent of the total personal income in Maine, have risen 99 per cent since 1947. Manufacturing wages and salaries accounted for most of the gain.

Average weekly earnings of production workers jumped 61 per cent to $76.73 in 1962. During the same period average weekly earnings for the U. S. as a whole rose 82 per cent to $96.66.

High Unemployment

Unemployment has been relatively high in Maine during the past couple of years. The per cent of insured unemployed to the total labor force was approximately 5.5 per cent in 1962. This is a higher rate than the U. S. figure of 4.4 per cent for 1962 or that for any of the other New England states except Rhode Island.

The number of insured unemployed so far this year has been running around 6,100 — considerably below last year's level of 10,500.

Manufacturing employment has been dropping, but nonmanufacturing employment has risen fast enough to more than offset this decline.

With 12,000 more government employees in 1962 than in 1947, the government sector — federal, state and local — had the greatest increase.

The number of textile employees has decreased by more than a half since 1947. The departure of textile firms has slowed down somewhat in the past couple of years. Employment actually increased slightly in 1962 over the 1961 level. Over 40 per cent of the textile workers presently employed are women.

Population Over Million

Maine's population, which surpassed the million mark this year, has been growing at an annual rate of about one per cent since 1947. This is close to the New England rate but, as would be expected for some time, it is below the U. S. rate.

With a 17 per cent rate of growth, Penobscot County, which includes the city of Bangor, led all the other counties in the state in population growth.

Houlton High, RCI Students Awarded MTA Certificates

Honor certificates for scholastic accomplishment are being awarded to outstanding members of Houlton High School and Ricker Classical Institute by the Maine Teachers Association.

The certificates are awarded on the basis of performance in the National Merit Scholarship examinations taken last spring when the students were juniors. Winners must also be in the upper half of the class. Winners of certificates are eligible to compete for State Highest Honors by submitting scores of College Board achievement examinations, next April. Approximately 70 students selected for Highest Honors will receive trophies at award ceremonies customarily held at Colby College. They also become eligible to apply for one of ten $300 scholarships voted by the MTA Representative Assembly.

And, of course, you know enough to dab a spot of white paint on the front sight of your rifle or shotgun so your eye will have a visible sighting point in the event of an early morning or late evening shot.

Arthur E. Hagerman, the last person to deliver parcel post from the Houlton Post Office by horse and carriage, has retired after nearly 40 years of service.

Mr. Hagerman recalls that horses were used for parcel post when he joined the post office on March 21, 1924. It was two or three years later than the last horse gave way to a truck.

While he has this claim to a "last", Mr. Hagerman can also claim a "first". He was a projectionist for the old Bijou Theatre in Houlton, back in the days when projectors were operated by a hand crank. Around the year 1914 he had the first electrically driven projector in the state.

A native of Houlton, Mr. Hagerman attended Houlton schools and Colby College until he enlisted in the Army during World War I.

The past 25 of his nearly 40 years with the Houlton Post Office have seen Mr. Hagerman working at his dispatching case. He has been termed by Postmaster Leo T. Spain as one of the office's most dependable workers.

Twenty-two members of the post office staff honored Mr. Hagerman at a retirement dinner November 30 at Al's restaurant. Mr. Hagerman received a letter of retirement from the Postal Department, and was presented with a purse and other mementos from his fellow employees.

Mr. Hagerman is a member of the World War I Vets, a charter member of both the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion, and a member of the Elks Club for the past 27 years.

He resides at 9 Abraham street with his wife Aggie.

Miss Carton Wins "Debate" Contest

Miss Mary Carton of Grade 8 at St. Mary's School has recently entered and won the "Debate" contest in the "Catholic Miss" magazine.

Her entry was one of many on the topic: "Every teen-ager should develop the habit of carefully and selectively reading her hometown newspaper." Her submission reads as follows: "It's pitiful how many girls don't know or care what's happening right in their own town. Reading their hometown newspaper will stir their interest in their own town and help them to be better citizens. I read our weekly hometown newspaper and I just love it!"

Miss Carton has received for her prize, a copy of the book, "Lydia Longley, First American Nun".

College Courses Made Available To RCI Students

A Maine boy took advantage of Ricker Classical Institute's program for gifted students by electing to take college mathematics courses during his junior year of high school.

The program is unique among college preparatory schools and student back when he has the is made possible by a close relationship with Ricker College of the Northeast.

At Ricker Classical Institute selected students are allowed to take advanced courses on the college level as soon as they are ready for them.

This permits students with special aptitudes to accelerate their program and to be placed in college level classes which challenge them. "There are special dangers in holding a superior ability to go ahead at a faster pace than the average," according to David H. Cotton, headmaster.

A Maine boy benefiting from this program is David DeLong, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon DeLong of Monticello.

"This 15 year-old boy," who hopes to be an engineer, "absorbs math like a sponge; in two years he will have completed four years of high school math and we hope he will have completed several college math courses," according to Mr. Cotton.

Governor Reed Saluted As Maine's Top Potato Salesman

Governor John H. Reed swung into Boston this week on a barnstorming trip in behalf of the Maine Potato industry, and hosted a luncheon of the top super-market chain, independent and wholesale produce executives in Eastern Massachusetts.

A surprise move at the luncheon, attended by over 50 key distributors, took place when Maine's Commissioner of Agriculture E. L. Newdick presented the Governor with a Paul Revere bowl on behalf of the potato industry as Maine's No. 1 potato salesman.

Governor Reed expressed the hope that those present would get behind the Maine Potato Commission aggressive and imaginative merchandising program and display and sell Maine potatoes, particularly those whose packages display the Blue, White and Red State of Maine "Trademark." "Project Selmore" which is the name of this year's marketing program, is part and parcel of the over-all Operation Bootstrap, Gov. Reed explained to the group.

"We are embarked on a play-for-keeps program of self-help and we need your help to put us over the top," said Governor Reed.

Governor Reed was introduced to the gathering by Harold Bryant of Presque Isle, consultant to the Maine Potato Commission. After the Governor spoke, Mr. Bryant outlined in detail the various promotional aspects of the upcoming Project Selmore.

Mr. Bryant described the big consumer sweepstakes with prizes of Chevrolet Corvairs and TV sets; the retail display contest with cars to be awarded to those retailers constructing the best sales promotion display featuring potatoes which carry the Blue, White and Red Trade-mark, as well as duplicating prizes to be awarded wholesalers supplying the winning retailer.

Also present at the luncheon was Miss Carmen Towle, this year's Maine Potato Queen. Miss Towle, a student at Burdett College in Boston, arrived in her new Maine Potato Queen costume and was the welcome subject of news photographers.

In addition to Commissioner Newdick, the Maine Department of Agriculture was represented by William Charron, who has charge of the Market Specialists. Also two of the Market Specialists, Stan Browne and Morton Foster, were in attendance. The chairman of the Maine Potato Commission, Joseph LaPointe of Van Buren, and Art Thompson, president of the Maine Potato Council, also met with the group.

Canadian-U.S. Relations

This area of Maine is so closely tied with Canada that it is difficult to imagine than any real differences could arise between the two nations. Small differences perhaps, but nothing of real importance.

Perhaps the ties that bind a great many families of Maine and New Brunswick have caused many of us to overlook problems that have been creating at times serious differences between these two great neighbors.

This past weekend at Ricker College a Canadian-American Congress was conducted so that some of these differences might be aired, and thus better understood. During introductory remarks, it was noted that relations between Canada and the United States had dropped to the lowest point of the past century and one-half.

There was no attempt to gloss over any differences, and in fact, it was a bit surprising to be told just how broad they were. As Maine's Senator Edmund S. Muskie said, "We should not allow the existence of the longest unfortified border in the world to divert our attention from the real differences which exist between us. Failure to recognize our differences can only lead to hurt feelings, unnecessary misunderstandings, and the undermining of common ventures".

Senator Muskie announced during his talk Friday night that he is writing to members of the Canadian Parliament from the Atlantic Provinces, and representatives and senators in the U. S. Congress from the New England States in an attempt to promote meetings between these groups to discuss problems of mutual concern and joint benefit.

The Senator said he has long felt such meetings would be helpful. Perhaps his invitation to participate in a Canadian-American Congress at Ricker College has prodded him into taking the first positive steps towards bringing such meetings about.

The College and its student government are to be commended for their efforts this past weekend, and for presenting to students and the general public such capable speakers on Canadian-U. S. conditions as Senator Muskie and the Honorable Hugh John Flemming, member of the Canadian Parliament.

Ricker and its students are assuming an increasingly important role in the life of our community. The support from the non-college public at Friday night's program at Putnam Auditorium was an indication that there is a very keen interest in this kind of program.

With a population of 5.5 million, Switzerland had 171 persons unemployed at the end of September. The labor shortage is so severe that some American companies have left the country because they could not get enough workers. Obviously, Switzerland counts its unemployed realistically. There is no possibility of the ranks of the unemployed in the U. S. ever being reduced to 5,000 or 10,000, for instance.

But the fact is that there are more jobs than workers in Switzerland, even with the importation of thousands of foreigners. In August,

Snow

There are differing opinions concerning snow. To some it means trouble and expense. Roads must be cleared, driveways and walks shoveled. After a fresh fall of the white material as a man is shoveling out to the mail box, barn, and hen house, he wonders why there must be so much. He thinks of that prediction that some day there will be a winter-lasting chemical he can spread which will do away with shovelling.

Few persons understand snow.

Washington Highlights

By Ray Vernon

No one doubts at this time that President Lyndon Johnson will be the standard bearer for his party in next year's elections so the only element of mystery revolves around the choice of his running mate.

Several prominent political figures in the Democratic party come immediately to mind and there is little prospect that a "dark horse" vice presidential candidate is likely.

Humphrey

Tops List

High on the list is Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, the No. 2 Democrat in the Senate and a party stalwart for many years.

Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy, brother of the late President, is mentioned prominently.

And so is Sen. Eugene McCarthy, also of Minnesota, and Mayor Robert Wagner of New York.

But we must not overlook Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, Supreme Court Justice Arthur Goldberg, Sen. Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut or Sen. Joseph Clark of Pennsylvania.

In analyzing the roster of potentials one obviously has to come up with a candidate who offers the most ways of helping the presidential ticket.

For that reason we now venture the prediction that Johnson will nod in the direction of Humphrey who has more reasons for complementing the ticket than any of the others.

A vice presidential running mate, we are convinced, must provide to the ticket those things which the presidential nominee cannot appeal to the maximum number of voters.

Here are some of the things Humphrey is and Johnson is not. He is an intellectual, he is a northerner, he is an extreme liberal, he is glib. Humphrey has the additional asset of being close both to labor and to the farmer.

No longer is the vice presidency a job that will be passed out carelessly by either party. This was brought out dramatically during the Eisenhower administration when the former president was stricken by a severe heart attack. It was brought out even more forcefully on November 22 when President Kennedy was felled by an assassin's bullet.

The vice president from now on must be selected with the view that he must be prepared to take over the reins of government on moment's notice in event of the President's death or incapacitation.

Speaker

Is Next

Even with this precaution in mind other safeguards will have to be put into motion to prepare for a situation we find ourselves in today. Under the system of presidential succession the Speaker of the House is next in line after the vice president and behind him is the president pro tem of the senate.

Well, Speaker John McCormack of Massachusetts is 72 years old and Sen. Carl Hayden of Arizona is 85.

President Johnson has already made a start to correct part of the weakness in the system in that Speaker McCormack is being invited to attend all Cabinet meetings as well as those of the National Security Council.

New Line Of Succession

Former President Eisenhower has just come up with a suggestion which bears consideration. He would change the line of succession so that behind the vice president would come the Secretary of State and other cabinet officers.

Eisenhower notes, for example, that neither the speaker nor the president pro tem of the Senate are elected in nationwide balloting. In fact, they might hold views contrary to the President and the course of government could change abruptly if they ascended to the presidency.

While members of the cabinet are also elected in national balloting they are persons chosen by the President and they do share almost completely his views on how the country should be run.

Capitol Report

Weekly Letter from Augusta

Special From The Enterprise

AUGUSTA — Last spring, when the Legislature was pondering the six-state World's Fair compact, there was objection to spending so much money in this way, and Governor Reed made an interesting remark in one of his press conferences. After all, he said, Maine people who go to the fair will be terribly disappointed if they don't find Maine on exhibition.

The $-and-¢ department of the Fair, which is a tight corporation well versed in high finance and banking. This is not exactly a spun sugar and gay music deal.

The truth seems to be that Maine will have precious little to say about what Maine does at the Fair, and our membership payment has been signed away beyond recall. Best example to come to public attention thus far is a proposal by Farnham Butler of Mount Desert, which has already been resisted to the point where Maine enthusiasts would quite properly say, "Aw, if that's the case, the hell with it!"

Mr. Butler is a boat builder, operates a marine storage and repair, and his corporation enjoys a controversial distinction as originator of the "controversy" class of small sailing boats — one of the most talked-about developments of modern yachting.

Mr. Butler selected the Friendship Sloop as his motif. This sloop he said, was symbolic of grandeur in Maine's historic past — but its emergence as a theme of an annual homecoming day at Friendship has nuances of gazing ahead. It shows the forward-looking vision of our people has its roots in industry, and it depends on native craftsmanship. All in all, the theme would make a fine World's Fair exhibit, which Mr. Butler then proceeded to outline in its practical aspects.

Form a syndicate to put up enough money to build a Friendship at the Fair. Select skilled and colorful workmen who would not only lay up the boat but would regale the crowds properly — working in the whole warp and woof of Maine as they went. Call the sloop "World's Fair", and sell her when completed.

Response

Was Good

A couple of sorties with the idea found good response. It is likely the syndicate could be formed quickly, and to the needed amount. Everybody liked. But when overtures were made in the direction of the World's Fair, it was immediately found out that this kind of exhibit could not be put under the Maine roof! Nope! Rules and "criteria".

It could be done, possibly, in some other part of the Fair, but then it would be a "commercial" exhibit and there was the rich rustle of the sound of money passing in flocks that obscure the sun. At this point, in short, the average down-east Maine citizen would shrug his shoulders and go back to the house — if a thing doesn't come easy, why fight it.

The Editor's Corner

The rain that greeted the area Monday brought with it one of the most serious hazards of the winter season. This is the presence of ice, both on the streets and sidewalks. Traveling by any means was a precarious chore Monday morning, and several pedestrian and vehicular accidents were reported.

The rains came on the heels of the first real cold snap of the season. Temperatures had dropped to 10 degrees or better below zero.

When Senator Muskie appeared at Putnam gym Friday night to speak at a special Canadian-American Congress sponsored by Ricker students, he began by apologizing for the fact that he was late. The program had to be delayed about a half-hour in order for the Senator to arrive.

But, as Senator Muskie said, he had tried his best to be on time. He had been several hours in trying to get to Houlton from Washington, coming to Bangor by plane then through the woods by car. It is no easy job getting to Houlton these days.

Fort Fairfield will dedicate its new $900,000 high school in ceremonies this Sunday afternoon. Governor Reed will be the guest speaker.

The Maine Harness Racing Commission's report on the 1963 season shows that wagering was up 7.7 per cent over the previous year. Just under $9 million was bet at the state's harness tracks this season.

Here in Aroostook County, where economic conditions are supposed to be bad, wagering was up over 1962. There were more programs and thus more chances to wager at Aroostook Raceway and at the Presque Isle Fair, and harness fans took full advantage.

Sunday Sermon

ALIVE! ALIVE!

The Life Magazine of a few weeks ago contained two accounts of the death of Abraham Lincoln's eleven-year old son, Willie. After a short illness during the early part of 1863, Willie died.

This came as a tremendous shock to President Lincoln. He wept convulsively and could hardly believe that his boy was gone. He secluded himself from the public and could not keep his mind on anything.

Finally, Dr. Francis Vincent of Trinity Church, New York, called on Mr. Lincoln and told him he was behaving like a heathen. Furthermore he said, "Your son is alive in Paradise." These words so surprised the President that he jumped up from the sofa saying, "Alive! Alive! Surely you mock me." Dr. Vincent assured Mr. Lincoln that he was telling him the truth; that the certainty of heaven was based on Scripture.

This was such a joyous truth to President Lincoln that for some time he sobbed and repeated the words, "Alive! Alive!" It is said that after the interview, Lincoln no longer secluded himself, but went back again to the care of his country.

Alive! Alive! How wonderful it is to know that we serve a living, victorious Saviour. Because of His death and resurrection He too has provided life for all who believe. This is the mighty affirmation of Christ Himself. (John 3:35,36)

"The Father loveth the Son, and hath given all things into his hand. He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life; and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life; but the wrath of God abideth on him."

Poet's Corner

Only Dreams

In dreams, I see your loving face,
I'm lost in your embrace.
I hear you speak those tender words
That time can not erase.
Your voice is soft like summer breezes
Whispering through the night,
Your gentle kiss upon my brow
Can make my heart take flight.
You call to me like violins
That play a summer's song,
Then dawn breaks through, and I awake,
To find my dream has gone.
